Holiday season underway!

Even the rain fails to dampen city's kickoff weekend

Friday night kicked off the holiday season in Madison. Part of the festivities began with the Tour of Homes and a stop at 708 West Main St. where Clay Helton explained the history of the house. Then it was off to Light Up Madison and the Broadway Fountain and the air filled with the sounds of caroling. Saturday, Dec. 7 will be the city's Christmas Parade. Homes tour, Santa and lights

Courier staff report

Nothing could put a damper on Madison's kickoff to the holiday season — even Saturday's rain.

Christmas festivities kicked off Friday night at 5 p.m.

Ticketholders were lined up outside the houses in the Nights Before Christmas Candlelight Tour of Homes.

Santa was in place at the Madison branch of the Jefferson County Public Library to greet the public for caroling and readings.

By 6 p.m. it was Light up Madison! that drew a crowd of about 100 to the Broadway Fountain and kicked off the holiday season downtown by switching on the lights, illuminating the fountain and the Christmas trees surrounding it. A group of carolers from Trinity United Methodist Church led the crowd through a few songs before everyone went their separate ways to continue home tours or shopping, which proved to be busier than usual for local business owners.

While Friday was booming for local businesses downtown, Small Business Saturday felt the dampness. Business owners said weather was a big factor, as Madison got nearly three inches of rain and averaged temperatures in the mid-40s, according to the National Weather Service.

Nathan Montoya, owner of Village Lights Bookstore, said the weather "sucked," but they still had about twice the business of an average Saturday during the holiday season. A much bigger crowd came in on Black Friday instead, he said, a day where bigger, out-of-town retailers tend to rake in profits.

Richard Sanders, owner of Ditto's on Main, also noticed a drop in business from Friday to Saturday. He estimated the store

2020 dog park, golf cart, park table fees to go up

By PEGGY VLEREBOME
Special to the Courier

People who go to the dog park, store their golf cart at the city golf course or rent picnic tables will pay more next year, and for the first time, the new indoor sport of pickle ball will have six-month and yearly passes available. The Parks Board approved fees at its November meeting. Not all fees were changed.

The board also re-approved city facility rental policies and will send them to the City Council to put into ordinance form.

Another policy approval is for closure of all city parks from dusk until dawn. Dusk is a half-hour after sunset. Dawn is a half-hour before sunrise. Parks director David Stucker said he proposed the park hours to the board at the request of the mayor's office.

Fees that will change as of Jan. 1:

• Dog park annual pass: $20 for the first dog and $10 for each additional dog living in the same household. Stucker had proposed $25 for the first dog. The current cost is $13 for the first dog and $2 for each additional. Stucker said part of the reason for the increase is because a new entry system is planned to try to reduce the number of people who use the park without a pass and get the gate code from friends. A dog park pass requires proof from a veterinarian that the dog's shots are current.

• Golf cart storage: $300. The current cost is $265.

• Pickle ball at Brown Gym: $50 for six months, $75 for a year, $5 a day. Stucker said a third court is being added for the popular sport. The courts are open from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. weekdays and do not interfere with people who walk at the gym for exercise.

• Crystal Beach swimming pool: The single annual passes will cost the same as this year — $40 if purchased between Jan. 2 and March 31 and $50 if purchased between April 1 and May 22 — but waiting until May 23 or later will cost $60.

• Picnic table rental: $15 each. The current cost is $5. The city delivers the tables and picks them up.

This year the Parks Department sold:

• 44 of the 46 available passes for golf cart storage

• 144 dog park passes (includes single-dog and multiple-dog passes)

• 178 individual pool passes.

• 16 water-aerobics-only pool passes

Most passes are sold at the Parks Department, which is on the second floor of Brown Gym on Broadway Street next to the softball field. It is open 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. Pool passes are sold there until the pool opens for the season, when passes are sold at the pool instead. Golf cart storage passes are purchased at the Parks Department, but greens fees and cart rental are paid at Sunrise Golf Course.

Parks Board members also changed the date for their December meeting. Instead of meeting the last Wednesday — which is Christmas — the board will meet a week earlier, on Wednesday, Dec. 18. The meeting will be at 5:30 p.m. at City Hall.

Tough questions as Evansville talks jail expansion

By JOHN T. MARTIN
Evansville Courier & Press

EVANSVILLE –- Vanderburgh County government officials face a list of difficult questions this week as they dive back into jail expansion discussions.

How many more jail beds does the county need? How many might be required in 10 years, 20 years? What can taxpayers reasonably afford? Could temporary structures become part of the solution? What about federal inmates?

The county's consultants on the jail issue, American Structurepoint and Rosser International, will show a list of alternatives during Wednesday's County Council meeting.

Councilors expect to spend weeks if not months vetting those options. They said public input will be part of the process.

The consultants "are going to show what they have put together to date," said Joe Kiefer, president of the council.

The jail is above capacity on a regular basis.

Built to house 512 inmates, the jail as of Nov. 22 had 563 under roof. Because of the lack of room, another 197 people were jailed in surrounding counties, at local taxpayer cost.

The jail opened in January 2006 and was filled soon after. Its construction budget was $35 million. The county still pays annual debt on the building.

If previous meetings are any indication, consultants this week will present options for 500, 600 and 750 additional jail beds and attach costs to each.

The 750-bed alternative is to meet Vanderburgh County's needs for 20 years or so, consultants have said previously. They have said 600 more beds would buy about 10 years, at current trends, while a 500-bed addition would fill up sooner.

County Council Finance Chairman James Raben is unequivocal in saying funds are unavailable for the most expensive choices on the table.

Kiefer said standing pat also comes with a cost, because it would mean Vanderburgh would have to keep transporting dozens of inmates to other jails in nearby Indiana, Kentucky and Illinois communities.

"If we do nothing and say we're going to leave things as they are, we'll still be underwater in terms of what we have to spend," Kiefer said. "No matter what we do, it's going to cost us more money. It's just a question of how we want to handle this. It's going to be expensive, no matter what direction we go in."

Housing federal inmates would bring Vanderburgh County reimbursements, and during a County Council meeting earlier this year, U.S. District Judge Richard Young said those inmates would be available. Many from Southern Indiana are now housed in Henderson County, Kentucky.

Councilors, though, have seemed reluctant to embrace federal inmates, saying reimbursements would not be a reliable revenue source.

There are voices in Evansville calling for bond reform and a greater emphasis on rehabilitation programs as opposed to constructing a few hundred more beds.

"Sometimes people don't need a hand out, they need a hand up," said the Rev. William Payne, a community activist. "When they are in jail, they lose their job, which forces them to fall behind on bills, CPS gets involved, and they are incarcerated for ... a nonviolent offense. Some of these offenses need to be looked at. We need rehabilitation, and we need to revisit giving the judges a little more leeway."

The Courier & Press in September took a one-day snapshot of jail population and what inmates were housed for. On a day when 833 were in custody, 135 were there for drug-related offenses, including 97 for possession.

People in jail for possessing marijuana are often out on bond in less than 24 hours, officials with the sheriff's office said.

The investigation showed 99 were jailed on a petition to revoke probation, which a judges issues if a person violates terms of probation.

Most inmates, 62 percent, were in jail for felony charges, including 10 for murder.

Sheriff Dave Wedding said he gets "a little tired of people telling me we are over-incarcerated. That's not the case. It's our job to take people off the street who need to be in jail."

In advance of this week's County Council meeting, Wedding said he has traveled Indiana looking at jail projects that might be possibilities for Vanderburgh.

Wedding is outspoken about how the General Assembly's decision to shift low-level felons out of state prisons and into county jails has worsened the crowding.

The sheriff says the jail's crowding creates dangerous conditions for staff as well as for inmates, who often can't be grouped according to their offenses and their needs.

"I want to make sure we don't under-build," Wedding said. "I certainly don't want to under-build and have the next sheriff come in and have to worry about building a jail. I would like to build for today and 10-20 years down the road."

Republicans set to pick Indiana House speaker successor

Indiana

INDIANAPOLIS — Republican legislators are deciding their pick as the next leader of the Indiana House. The private vote Monday among House Republicans comes after longtime House Speaker Brian Bosma announced two weeks ago that he would retire after the 2020 legislative session. Bosma said he'll work with the successor during the session ahead and that person will take over GOP caucus leadership heading into the November 2020 election when all 100 House seats will be on the ballot. Rep. Todd Huston of Fishers is considered a top candidate to replace Bosma. Huston was first elected to the Legislature in 2012 and led the House budget-writing committee this past year. He previously was chief of staff for Republican former state schools superintendent Tony Bennett.

Vote set on school district breakup plan

SELLERSBURG — Voters in a school district will decide next spring whether to approve a plan for splitting the district in two. West Clark Community Schools board president Doug Coffman said the district's reorganization proposal will be on the May 2020 primary ballot. Coffman told the News and Tribune he supports the referendum rather than the other option of community members seeking thousands of petition signatures within an 80-day period in support of the plan. The divorce plan comes after years of acrimony among residents in rural and suburban areas of the Clark County district. Those came to a head in 2017 when voters from townships including the towns of Henryville and Borden voted down a referendum for $95 million in upgrades to the Silver Creek schools in Sellersburg.

Casino ready to move to land-based complex

ELIZABETH — Horseshoe Southern Indiana's riverboat will close Dec. 12, when a new $90 million, 110,000-square-foot casino opens in Harrison County. The News and Tribune reported the riverboat, which opened in 1998 and is called the Glory of Rome, is the largest riverboat in the United States. It's moored along the Ohio River in the Indiana town of Elizabeth near Louisville, Kentucky. Indiana lawmakers allowed riverboat casinos to make the move to land in 2015. The new casino is being rebranded Caesars Southern Indiana.

Blast furnaces to restart after flooding

GARY — Blast furnace operations are expected to be restored at U.S. Steel's Gary Works mill several days after flooding at the facility. The (Northwest Indiana) Times reported the company hopes to bring its steel-making operations back online in the coming days. U.S. Steel spokeswoman Amanda Malkowski said a service water leak was reported Wednesday near blast furnace operations and, as a precaution, the company stopped the furnaces and steel production. United Steelworkers District 7 Director Mike Millsap said the leak was from a massive pipe that brings Lake Michigan water into the mill to cool furnaces and other steel-making equipment. Crews worked over the Thanksgiving holiday to remove the water.

Ship in port decades now set to move

MUNSTER — An abandoned-looking ship bulk carrier finally will be moved from an Illinois port after being there for decades. C-T-C No. 1, which is now at the Port of Chicago, is a shipping freighter that first set sail in 1943. The ship originally hauled cargo, including raw materials for steelmakers, across the Great Lakes. But most recently, it had been used for cement storage until 2009, The (Northwest Indiana) Times reported. Clayton Harris III, the Illinois International Port District Executive Director, said ship owner Grand River Navigation should tow away and scrap the ship in a few weeks. Harris estimates the ship's metal will go for more than $1 million when scrapped. The ship's removal will free up more dock space that can be leased out. In its prime, the self-unloading bulker could haul up to 16,300 tons of cargo in its four holds. In 1974, C-T-C struck a bridge on a canal in Ontario, Canada, causing extensive damage to the vessel and closing the bridge permanently.

La Grange man charged after shooting son

LA GRANGE — Police say a La Grange man has been arrested after a fatal shooting involving his son during a domestic altercation. Kentucky State Police say Joseph O'Daniel, 71, shot and killed William O'Daniel, 42, Wednesday at a home in La Grange. Police said Joseph O'Daniel is William O'Daniel's father. No further information has been released about the shooting. Jospeh O'Daniel has been charged with murder and is being held at the Oldham County Detention Center. He was booked on a $1 million cash bond. He was scheduled to appear in court Dec. 2.

School district OKs e-cigarette maker suit

SHEPHERDSVILLE — A school district plans to sue electronic cigarette companies for creating what it says is an epidemic of nicotine addiction affecting student health and school learning environments. News outlets report the Bullitt County Board of Education announced Wednesday that it plans to sue Juul and other industry manufacturers, distributers and retailers. Juul controls about two-thirds of the nation's e-cigarette market and faces separate investigations by Congress and federal regulators. The district Monday unanimously approved a resolution to sue. Superintendent Jesse Bacon said this is a chance to hold the companies accountable. Attorney Ron Johnson will represent the district. He said Juul has focused its marketing on children through "insidious social media campaigns and influencers" and falsely marketed e-cigarettes as a safe alternative to tobacco.

Rosario on 'Will & Grace,' dies at 83

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Shelley Morrison, an actress with a 50-year career who was best known for playing a memorable maid on "Will & Grace," died Sunday, her publicist said.

Morrison died at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center in Los Angeles from heart failure after a brief illness, publicist Lori DeWaal told The Associated Press. She was 83.

Morrison played Rosario Salazar, a maid from El Salvador, in the original run of "Will & Grace" from 1999 to 2006, becoming part of a cast that won a Screen Actors Guild award for best ensemble in a comedy series.

The character, originally written for a single episode, proved so popular in her interactions with co-star Megan Mullally that she would appear in 68 episodes during the NBC series' eight seasons.

Before "Will & Grace," Morrison was best known for playing Sister Sixto on "The Flying Nun" alongside Sally Field from 1967 to 1970.

She guest-starred on dozens of television series starting in the early 1960s, including "The Fugitive," "L.A. Law" and "Murder, She Wrote."

made 45% less than last year on Small Business Saturday, which was most likely because of the rain, he said.

Still, he noted, the shop made more than the usual Saturday, and they expect customers to pour in throughout the month of December.

"This coming weekend will be busy, the weather will be better, and [we'll have] the Tour of Homes, so it'll be a good weekend also," Sanders said.

The tour, which continues next weekend features a number of new homes. Among them are the Helton home at 708 West Main Street, which has housed multiple businesses throughout its history, the Talbott-Hyatt house at 301 West Second Street, which will become the Historic Madison Inc. offices once renovated, and the Strouse home at 112 West First Street, which was finished this year and was built incorporating a former body shop into the structure.

The tour continued last Saturday night and will continue next Friday and Saturday to close out the 2019 tours. Those wanting to go can buy tickets all the way to Saturday, said Katie Burress, event coordinator for Visit Madison. Tickets can be purchased online at Eventbrite, at the Madison Visitors Center during tour hours or at other select locations.

The Little Golden Fox was another big beneficiary of the weekend events. On top of being a popular local spot for out-of-towners, the shop was a hospitality site for the Tour of Homes and saw visitors from as far as California, Arizona, New York, Colorado and Ontario, Canada.

Owner Cara Fox said the store had 610 visitors Friday and 625 Saturday, which would have been bigger if not for the rain. Sales were down a bit from last year, but out-of-towners from the tour gave Little Golden Fox a boost.

"That's what's unique about downtown Madison," Fox said. "The people who live locally might stay home when the weather is bad, but the people visiting will stay out no matter what."

Crystal Beach plans to be on display

Courier special report

Drawings showing plans for the first phase of a Stellar project at Crystal Beach swimming pool will be displayed at an open house at City Hall from 5 to 7 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 12.

There will not be a presentation. The public can come and go to look at the plans and ask questions, Nicole Schell, city planner and preservation coordinator, told the Parks Board last week.

The focus of the first phase will be Americans with Disabilities Act compliance in the bath house and will include an elevator on the east side for access to the second floor.

The Parks Board approved the plans last week so the project architects can move forward with construction drawings. Schell said it is unlikely the architects will begin before the open house and that changes suggested by the public will be able to be made.

The plans must go through a review process required by Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966 and must be approved by the city's Historic Board.

The state designated Madison a Stellar community in 2017, making the city available for $6 million in funds that are released as plans are approved in Indianapolis.

Hot-shooting Cubs roll past Trinity Lutheran

Miller scores 21 points, Welsh 20 in Cubs' 1st win of the season

SEYMOUR — Madison rode the hot-shooting of Luke Miller and another outstanding offensive game by Mason Welsh to a dominating 88-66 win at Trinity Lutheran in boys basketball Saturday.

Miller went 5-for-7 from 3-point range and led all scorers with 21 points while Welsh, who had 21 in a loss to Southwestern, scored 20 points in a variety of different ways. Both were 8-of-11 shooting from the floor.

As a team, the Cubs shot 59 percent (36-of-61) from the floor and 9-of-18 from beyond the arc to erase the pain of the emotional loss to Class 2A No. 7 Southwestern on Wednesday in the annual Turkey Shootout.

"We knew that this game could go bad for us if we didn't come in ready to play. Especially after that emotionally-charged game with Southwestern," said Madison coach Sherron Wilkerson, who picked up his first win at the school. "The Turkey Shootout is always a big, big deal and we really had to crank it up."

Madison (1-1) essentially won the game in the second quarter. After pulling away late in the first and going ahead 24-11, the Cubs built a 30-point lead late in the second on the strength of a 21-4 run fueled by 3-pointers that gave Madison a 47-17 lead.

But despite the big lead, the Cubs could never fully put the game away. Trinity Lutheran closed the first half in a 7-0 run and outscored Madison 18-2 over a five-minute span to cut the lead all the way down to 14 (49-35) with 4:25 left in the third period.

After a Wilkerson timeout, Madison answered with a 17-0 run to push the lead back to 31 late in the third but the Cougars came right back, pulling to within 15 (73-58) late in the fourth before the Cubs finally applied the knockout blow.

"Trinity is never out of a game with the way they shoot the ball," Wilkerson said.

A big reason why the Cubs never truly gave up the lead was the shooting of its leaders. After a rough game on Wednesday, Miller roared back on Saturday and Welsh carried the Cubs with strong moves to the basket. In all, eight of the nine Madison players in uniform scored in the game with Luke Ommen getting 14 points and Kaden Oliver and Andrew Scroggins scoring nine points each.

"Luke Miller is one of our biggest contributers, on both sides of the floor. We kept telling him that you're going to have games where it just doesn't go into the hole and it just so happened that it came in the Turkey Shootout," Wilkerson said. "He did a really, really good job tonight of responding and letting that go. He's one of our best shooters on the team and he's got to shoot the ball. I told him, coach will decide when you've shot enough shots. If you're open, you've got to let it fly.

Rebels suffer first loss at Loogootee

Southwestern tops Rock Creek in semifinals

COURIER STAFF REPORT
sports@madisoncourier.com

Southwestern's boys basketball team suffered its first loss of the season, 76-64 to host Loogootee in the championship game of the Loughmiller Classic on Saturday.

The Rebels, ranked seventh in Class 2A, dispatched Rock Creek 75-51 in the morning semifinal, but found Loogootee a tougher nut to crack.

Southwestern opened the championship game on fire. Led by 14 points from Austin Kramer, the Rebels jumped out to a 28-18 lead after one quarter and appeared to be control.

The Lions were unfazed, however, and flipped the tables in the second quarter, to outscore Southwestern 21-10 and take a 39-38 halftime lead. Loogootee then used a 13-5 third quarter to push ahead by nine and went 10-of-11 at the free-throw line to seal the win.

Foster Mefford scored 24 points and Kramer had 20 to lead Southwestern. Billy Eccles hit four 3-pointers and scored 13 points.

Southwestern wasted little time in blowing out Rock Creek in the semifinals. The Rebels led 22-10 after the first quarter and 47-24 at halftime. Another big quarter gave Southwestern a 71-39 lead going into the final eight minutes.

Matthew Williams scored 25 points on seven 3-pointers while Kramer had 21 for a new career-high. Mefford scored 15 points.

Now 2-1 on the season, Southwestern travels to Shawe Friday to open Ohio River Valley Conference play. The Rebels then head to Columbus East Saturday.

New Washington pulls away in 2nd quarter to beat Shawe 64-42

By JORDAN BEAR
Special to the Courier
sports@madisoncourier.com

New Washington pulled away in the second quarter to defeat Shawe 64-42 in boys basketball Saturday in Madison.

The host Hilltoppers led 13-11 at the end of the of the first but New Washington outscored Shawe 14-5 in the second and pull away from there.

Shawe led 9-2 early thanks to a strong start combined with poor shooting by New Washington. The Mustangs then closed the period with a 9-4 run to cut the lead to two.

The second period was all New Washington as the Hilltoppers struggled to take care of the ball, committing five turnovers in the period, and also struggled from the free-throw line. That allowed the Mustangs to capitalize and take the lead for good.

The second half saw New Washington heat up fast to hit five consecutive 3-pointers out of the break, which allowed the visitors to take control of the game for good. The Mustangs were 9-for-13 from behind the arc in the second half to ride that shooting to the win.

Meanwhile, the Hilltoppers didn't help themselves from the foul stripe, making only 7-of-16 for the game, and missing several front ends of the one and bonus to allow New Washington to pull away.

"In the first half I was really proud of my team's effort. We missed the front end of the one and one three times, you take that we're down maybe three at half instead of eight," Shawe coach Dan Hambrick said. "I think the things we need to do are fixable. We need figure out our defense, get our hands up and not give so many good looks. They hit a lot of 3s on us and we have to change that and get out on the shooters."

The Hilltoppers fell to 1-1 on the season with the loss and open Ohio River Valley Conference play Tuesday when they travel to Jac-Cen-Del. Shawe then hosts Southwestern Friday as part of a boys-girls doubleheader.

QB Dalton leads Bengals to 1st win

By JOE KAY
AP Sports Writer

CINCINNATI — Back from a three-week exile, Andy Dalton had more of a swagger in practice, as though he was out to prove something.

"He had a chip on his shoulder all week," running back Joe Mixon said.

Dalton returned from one of the lowest points of his nine-year career and got a long-awaited victory Sunday for the coach who benched him, throwing a touchdown pass during a 22-6 victory over the New York Jets.

The Bengals (1-11) ended the longest losing streak in their history and finally shed their distinction as the NFL's lone winless team. He got coach Zac Taylor his first win and set two franchise career passing records along the way.

The only thing he wouldn't do is gloat.

"This one's very satisfying, with everything I've gone through this year," Dalton said. "To be the record-breaker today, being the first one after not playing the last three weeks, this one means a lot."

Taylor benched Dalton after the eighth loss, deciding it was time to look toward next year and see if Ryan Finley fit in their plans. With the rookie struggling and the season careening toward 0-16, Taylor reversed course and went back to Dalton, who made the difference.

"He did a great job pumping everybody up," said Tyler Boyd, who caught the touchdown pass. "He won the game for us."

Carlos Dunlap and Sam Hubbard dunked Taylor with ice water in the final seconds on a cold, gray, December day when he got the inaugural win, courtesy of the quarterback he'd benched. Dalton got a game ball as a thank you.

"For him to come back and lead us and get this win, it says a lot about his character," Taylor said.

Dalton also set a couple of franchise passing marks in front of 39,804 fans, the smallest home crowd since the final game of the 1995 season at Cinergy Field.

Dalton put Cincinnati ahead to stay with a 17-yard pass to Boyd that made him the Bengals' career leader in touchdown passes, moving ahead of Ken Anderson with 198. He also passed Anderson for the franchise's career completion mark. Dalton finished 22 of 37 for 243 yards with no interceptions and one sack.

Joe Mixon had a 5-yard touchdown run against the league's stingiest run defense as the Bengals put up their second-most points this season, trailing a 26-23 loss to Arizona.

This time, the defense added to the lead instead of giving it up, getting its first safety in three years. Dunlap had three of Cincinnati's four sacks.

"We just couldn't stay consistent on anything," coach Adam Gase said. "Every time we had something going, we'd shoot ourselves in the foot. I mean, we had eight penalties on offense alone."

INJURIES

Bengals: WR A.J. Green missed his 12th game recovering from ankle surgery. ... S Brandon Wilson hurt his right hand in the second half.

UP NEXT

Jets: host the Dolphins. They lost at Miami 26-18 last month.

Bengals: play at Cleveland. The Browns swept the season series last year.

Blocked FG leads Titans over Colts

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Tye Smith returned a blocked field goal 63 yards for the go-ahead touchdown with 5:02 left to play.

The Titans (7-5) snapped a three-game losing streak in the series, winning for only the third time in the past 17 meetings. It also allowed Tennessee to leapfrog the Colts in the AFC South.

Adam Vinatieri missed three field goals for Indy (6-6), with two being blocked, including the decisive kick that Dane Cruikshank got his hand on. Vinatieri has missed 14 kicks this season: eight field goals and six extra points.

But Vinatieri's misses weren't the Colts' only problem.

Jacoby Brissett was picked off twice, the first resulting in a 31-yard field goal that tied the score at 17 late in the third quarter, the second resulting in Ryan Tannehill's 40-yard TD pass to Kalif Raymond with 3:02 left that sealed the victory.

Indy also lost a fumble deep in Tennessee territory with two minutes left when the Titans won a challenge.

Derrick Henry carried 26 times for 149 yards and one touchdown, becoming the first runner to top the 100-yard mark against Indy in 30 games. Tannehill was 17 of 22 with 182 yards and two TD passes as he improved to 5-1 as Tennessee's starter.

Breeck's 32 points lead Pacers to win

COURIER STAFF REPORT
sports@madisoncourier.com

Switzerland County used a big fourth quarter to pull away to a 62-50 win over sectional foe Austin at home in the Pacers' boys basketball season opener Saturday.

Trailing 25-21 at halftime, Switzerland pulled even after three quarters and then ran away in the fourth. Three-straight 3-pointers by Zach Weaver, Landon Wilks and Ben Hicks staked the Pacers to a 52-39 lead with 4:25 to go and the Swiss held on from there for the win.

Senior Damian Breeck was 12-for-13 from the free-throw line and scored a career-high 32 points and added 15 rebounds to lead the Pacers. Wilks had 10 points, nine rebounds and six assists in an impressive all-around performance.

Switzerland, now 1-0 on the season, hosts Trimble County Friday and travels to Crothersville Saturday.

Hanover women fall at Centre 74-61

COURIER STAFF REPORT

Centre pulled away in the second half to post a 74-61 victory over Hanover in women's basketball on Saturday.

The Panthers won each of the first two quarters and took a 30-28 lead into the locker-room. But Centre roared out of the gates in the third to forge ahead 50-43 and added onto the lead in the fourth for the final margin.

Former Madison Cub Katie Hartman was 8-for-16 from the floor — including 3-for-3 on 3-pointers — to score 20 points and lead Hanover. The senior also had six rebounds.

Savannah Courtney had 14 points for Hanover while preseason all-American Alexis Nall was held to just four points on 1-of-8 shooting and 11 rebounds.

Hanover, now 1-3 on the season and losers of three-straight, travels to Franklin Wednesday for its Heartland Collegiate Athletic Conference opener.

"Mason Welsh was in a tough spot. He's had three coaches in four years and most seniors would tune the new coach out. But he's probably been our biggest supporter and it's made it really easy to reach the other guys," Wilkerson said. "It's made this transition so much easier."

Tyler Goecker led Trinity with 18 points while Hudson Norton scored 13. As a team, the Cougars hit 10 3-pointers in the contest.

Each of the Cubs' first two games of the season were on the road and Madison will stay away from home this weekend when it opens Hoosier Hills Conference play at Jennings County Friday. The Cubs then head to sectional foe Corydon Saturday.

HOW TO PLAY: Each row, column and set of 3-by-3 boxes must contain the numbers 1 through 9 without repetition.

BRIDGE

THE LEAGUE HAS MATERIAL FOR ALL

Even if you do not play in duplicates, you will benefit from joining the American Contract Bridge League. Apart from its website having lots of teaching material, you will receive the monthly "Bulletin," which is edited by Paul Linxwiler. This contains articles aimed at all levels of player. Today's deal is one of the monthly challenges. Look at only the North-South hands. You are in three no-trump. West leads a fourth-highest spade four. East takes the trick with his king and returns the spade jack. What would you do?

The bidding followed a predictable path. North was nervous about spades but knew that it was so unlikely five of a minor would make and three no-trump go down.

Should you cover the spade jack with your queen?

Things look grim, but you have a genuine chance to make the contract if East started with the spade K-J-10. West takes your queen with the ace and returns the suit to his partner's 10, but West does not have a fast entry card. Suppose East shifts to low heart. Win with your ace and play a club to the nine. East takes that trick and tries another heart, but you win with the king and take a second club finesse. When that works and the king drops under the ace, you can claim 10 tricks: two hearts, five diamonds and three clubs.

Did you wonder if East had the spade king-jack-doubleton?

That cannot be the case if West led an honest fourth-highest spade four. Given that you hold the three, West can have at most a five-card suit.

Cousin has a closed door, but open heart for family member

Annie Lane

Dear Annie: One of my cousins lives about two hours away. Her parents are deceased, and she is estranged from her siblings. She has been in the hospital several times for mental health care. I believe she is bipolar but don't know that for sure. Because she lives alone now, we invite her to family gatherings for the holidays.

About once a month, I will receive a burst of text messages from her, sometimes 20 or more at a time, telling me about something that is going on in her life. Recently, in one of those bursts, she said she wants to move and might like to rent a room from a relative. I reminded her that she has a comfortable home in a place where she already knows people and that it can be hard to establish a new network of friends and support in a new place. She said she knows all of that but wants to move anyway.

I am worried that she is hinting that she would like to move in with my spouse and me. We have a large, comfortable home with spare bedrooms now that our children are on their own. But we enjoy our home as it is and don't want anyone else living here with us. I know that is selfish, but I just don't see how it could work to have my cousin live with us. If she asks directly if she can move in, I plan to tell her no. Am I wrong? — Caring Cousin

Dear Caring Cousin: There is nothing wrong with enjoying a quiet home with you and your husband. You are very kind to invite your cousin over for the holidays and family gatherings. Setting boundaries with family members is the right thing to do. It is your house, and you have a right to keep it as is.

It sounds like she might be experiencing a manic episode. Sometimes during a manic episode, people can experience risk-taking behaviors, hyperactivity or impulsive decisions. Check-in with her and ask her how she is feeling, how life is going and if she is getting treatment for her mental health. Really listen, too. It has to be difficult for her to be completely estranged from her siblings. Maybe this could be an opportunity for her to seek some real help.

In no way, shape or form are you responsible for her. Be kind and loving to her while protecting your personal space. Everyone will be better off for it in the long run.

Dear Annie: "Daughter of a Narcissist," please write a book! Your letter was the best article I've ever read about narcissism. I am going to repeat the "phrases" until they are etched in my mind. — Wife of a Narcissist

Dear Wife of a Narcissist: I am printing your letter in hopes that "Daughter of a Narcissist" sees it and takes you up on your suggestion. Knowing that there are other people out there who understand exactly what it is like to live with a narcissist could be comforting for others.
